Introduction

You need to reference:

- to demonstrate that you have undertaken research for your academic work
- to avoid accusations of plagiarism
- to acknowledge the work and ideas of other authors.

Referencing is an academic convention which enables your readers to distinguish between your work and the work of others.

There are many systems of referencing available; this guide will focus on the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) style, which is used by the School of Engineering.

This guide provides examples of different information sources and has been adapted using guidance published by the IEEE: http://www.ieee.org/publications\_standards/publications/authors/index.html.

IEEE referencing style

A referencing style is important because it enforces consistency and allows your reader to trace and locate any sources used.

The IEEE style is a numeric system and has two parts:

1. a source is acknowledged within the body of the text with a citation number in square brackets [ ]
2. full details of the source are then listed in a reference list at the end of the document.

The reference list should only contain sources which have been referred to in the text and citations should be in the order that the sources appear in the text.

In-text citations

Sources should be acknowledged with a citation number in square brackets [ ]. The citation number should be placed directly after the reference and within the punctuation, e.g.

...as demonstrated in [17].

According to [1], gas turbine engineering...

You may also use the name of the author to introduce the reference, e.g.

Short [3] implies that....

Use et al after the first author where citations have more than three authors, e.g.

Silius et al [7] offer evidence...

Using page numbers

In addition to the citation number you should include a page number if:

- you are quoting a passage directly from the source
- you are referring to a specific example, theory, data set or equation.

Page numbers should be included within the square brackets, e.g.

■ [1, p.10], [22, pp. 5-7], [11, table 1-62], [4, Fig. 7.1], [5, eq. (20.41)].

See the common abbreviations section for the correct terminology.

Citing multiple sources

You may need to use a number of sources to make a specific point or to provide evidence for an argument. In this case you should combine your citation numbers, e.g.

■ ...by the selection of an appropriate system [2], [12].

■ ...following high-profile campaigns [26-27] and building on legislation [20], [22]...

Separate single citation numbers with a comma and a range of citation numbers by a hyphen.

Citing the same source

If you need to refer to the same source more than once just repeat the earlier citation number.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the use of another author's ideas and words, either intentionally or unintentionally, without acknowledging the source of the information. It is an academic offence and will be treated seriously by the University (see University General Regulations).

You can avoid plagiarism by referencing correctly: all sources of information, whether books, articles or internet sites, should be acknowledged and clearly attributed.

Turnitin is text-matching software which identifies any part of your work matching similar content on the internet or in other students' work. It helps to improve writing and academic integrity by ensuring that all external sources are correctly cited and it helps academic staff to identify potential plagiarism. See <http://submit.ac.uk> or contact your school for more details.

Acknowledging sources

It is important to make sure that you support key points with evidence from recognised sources. There should be balance of your own work and that of other authors. Do not include references to sources just because you have read them; make sure that your citations are directly relevant to your discussion.

The quickest and easiest way to reference your work is to record the necessary information at the time of using it. This record should include details of the source you are using and any notes about the content.

When to reference

You should always include a reference if you:

- paraphrase or summarise other peoples' opinions or observations
- include a direct quotation in your work
- discuss a theory or model by a particular author
- analyse a case study undertaken at a particular company
- include any statistical data, images or diagrams.

Quotations

Quoting is copying a short section of text, word for word, directly from an information source into your work. Quotations are used rarely in academic work and you should try to summarise the source material instead. If you do include quotes you should comment on and illustrate how the quoted text applies in a particular case.

Short quotations should be introduced with a brief phrase and highlighted by using double quotation marks to enclose the copied text, e.g.

...and Bell et al emphasise that "the industry needs to recruit a new generation of well-qualified graduates" [16, p.450].

Longer quotations of three or more lines should be indented as a new paragraph without quotation marks, e.g.

Cottrell explains that:

A few words, carefully chosen, make the most powerful quotations, and demonstrate that you can select appropriately. Avoid long quotations; they are rarely needed... Incorporate the quotation clearly into your writing with linking sentences and by discussing its relevance [46, p.131].

In both cases the quotation is immediately followed by the citation and page number to help your reader locate the relevant text.

Paraphrasing and summarising

Paraphrasing is putting a section of text from a source into your own words. Although you are changing the words or phrasing from the original text, you are retaining and fully communicating the original meaning. You should provide a citation even when paraphrasing to acknowledge the source.

Summarising is describing the main ideas/findings of a source but without directly quoting from it. You should provide a citation when summarising to acknowledge the source.

Secondary referencing

Secondary referencing occurs when the information source you are reading has summarised another author's research, and you want to use this in your work.

The IEEE style does not accommodate secondary referencing so you should always locate and read the original material. If you cannot locate the original source then the research should not be used or cited.

Quality of sources

Academic work requires you to critically analyse your sources of information. It is important to make sure you understand and are aware of any potential bias in the information you are using.

- Be selective: your references should be directly relevant to your argument or discussion. Make sure you refer to a range of resources and do not rely solely on one source of information. In particular don't reference Wikipedia: follow up on articles by using the reference list at the bottom of the page instead.
- Be critical. If you are using a paper or leaflet written by a specific company, make sure you understand any influences on the company and their motives for writing the paper. For all sources consider who it was written for, why it was written and when it was published.
- Consider the quality. Does the writer have the authority and subject-expertise to write about the subject? Try to use peer-reviewed academic journals and conference papers where possible.

Referencing software

One way to make referencing simple and straightforward is to use referencing management software. This specialist software helps you to record, annotate and organise your references and allows you to quickly generate a reference list which adheres to the IEEE style guidelines.

Most Library databases and Google Scholar allow you to transfer citations directly into referencing management software, making it easy for you to keep track of anything that may be of interest to your research.

Software currently available includes:

- RefWorks (available for students via <http://library.lincoln.ac.uk>)
- EndNote (available for students via <http://library.lincoln.ac.uk>)
- Mendeley (freely available from <http://www.mendeley.com/>)
- Zotero (freely available from <https://www.zotero.org/>)

The key to good referencing is to be consistent and accurate. You should always check your references, even if using referencing management software or a citation generator.

Referencing tips

1. Record details and make notes on your sources as you research.
2. Make a note of page numbers if you intend to refer to specific points.
3. Never cite what you have not seen.
4. Every citation in the text needs a corresponding entry in the reference list.
5. Use referencing management software to organise your work.

If you need help with your referencing, or have any questions, contact your Academic Subject Librarian: <http://guides.library.lincoln.ac.uk/engineering>

Books

1

1.1 Book with a single author

Reference list example:

Notes:

- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author's initials and surname | <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Title : Subtitle              | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher                                   |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Edition                       | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication                         |

1.2 Book with two or more authors

Reference list example:

[2] D. F. Elger, B. C. Williams, C. T. Crowe and J. A. Roberson, Engineering Fluid Mechanics, 10th ed., Hoboken, NJ: Wiley, 2014.

Notes:

- List all of the authors in the order that they appear on the title page of the book.
- If there are more than six names listed, use et al. after the first author.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Authors' initials and surnames              | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher           |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Title : Subtitle                            | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Edition                                     |  |
| <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: |  |

1.3 Chapter in an edited book

Reference list example:

Notes:

- Include full chapter details including chapter and page numbers.
- List all of the authors and editors in the order that they appear on the title page of the book.
- If there are more than six names listed, use et al. after the first author.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Chapter author(s)' initials and surname(s) | <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Chapter title"                            | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher                                   |
| <input type="checkbox"/> in Title : Subtitle          | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication                         |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Editor(s)' initials and surname(s), Ed.    | <input type="checkbox"/> Section number (if known)                   |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Edition                                    | <input type="checkbox"/> Chapter number                              |
|   | <input type="checkbox"/> Page range                                  |

1.4 Ebook

Treat an ebook in exactly the same way as a print book but provide the URL of the book to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

Notes:

- List all of the authors and editors in the order that they appear on the title page of the book.
- If there are more than six names listed, use et al. after the first author.
- Give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author(s)' initials and surname(s)          | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher           |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Title : Subtitle                            | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Edition                                     | <input type="checkbox"/> [Ebook]             |
| <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL      |

1.5 Chapter in an edited ebook

Treat an ebook in exactly the same way as a print book but provide the URL of the book to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

[5] G. Rizzoni, “Electrical engineering,” in Mechatronic systems, sensors, and actuators, R. H. Bishop, Ed., Boca Raton, FL: CRC Press, 2008, sec. II, ch. 11, pp. 11-1 – 11-36. [Ebook] Available: <http://lib.myilibrary.com/Open.aspx?id=124417>

Notes:

- Include full chapter details including chapter and page numbers.
- List all of the authors and editors in the order that they appear on the title page of the book.
- If there are more than six names listed, use et al. after the first author.
- Give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Chapter author(s)' initials and surname(s)  | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher                 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Chapter title"                             | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication       |
| <input type="checkbox"/> in Title : Subtitle                  | <input type="checkbox"/> Section number (if known) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Editor(s)' initials and surname(s), Ed.     | <input type="checkbox"/> Chapter number            |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Edition                                     | <input type="checkbox"/> Page range                |

|  | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL            |

2.1 Conference paper with one author

If the conference paper has come from an online source you should provide the URL of the paper to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

1. Citation number

2. Author's initials and surname

3. "Title of paper"

4. in Abbreviated Name of Conference

8. [Online]

9. Available: URL

5. City and Country of conference

6. Year of conference

7. Page range

[6] A. Abdelgawad, "Distributed data fusion algorithm for Wireless Sensor Network," in IEEE 11th Int. Conf. Networking, Sensing and Control (ICNSC), Miami, FL, USA, 2014, pp. 334-337. ### Notes:

- Abbreviate the conference title by omitting 'of the' and 'on'.
- If the year is given in the conference title it may be omitted from the end of the reference.
- If appropriate give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author's initials and surname  | <input type="checkbox"/> City and Country of conference |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Title of paper"   | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of conference             |
| <input type="checkbox"/> in Abbreviated Name of Conference (see list of abbreviations) | <input type="checkbox"/> Page range                     |
|   | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online] (if needed)           |
|   | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)     |

2.2 Conference paper with two to six authors

If the conference paper has come from an online source you should provide the URL of the paper to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

[7] K. Silius, A. Tervakari, O. Pirttila, J. Paukkeri, and T. Makela, "A tool for evaluating social media enhanced learning environments," in Global Engineering Education Conference (EDUCON), Istanbul, Turkey, 2014, pp. 152 - 157. [Online] Available: http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/xpls/abs\_all.jsp?arnumber=6826082

Notes:

- List all of the authors in the order that they appear on the paper.
- Abbreviate the conference title by omitting 'of the' and 'on'.
- If the year is given in the conference title it may be omitted from the end of the reference.
- If appropriate give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Authors' initials and surnames                                       | <input type="checkbox"/> City and Country of conference |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Title of paper"   | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of conference             |
| <input type="checkbox"/> in Abbreviated Name of Conference (see list of abbreviations) | <input type="checkbox"/> Page range                     |
|   | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online] (if needed)           |
|   | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)     |

2.3 Conference paper with more than six authors

If the conference paper has come from an online source you should provide the URL of the paper to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

[8] M. F. Misnan et al, “On-board real-time single line scanning technique for use on unmanned aerial vehicle of low altitude mapping,” in IEEE 10th Int. Colloq. Signal Processing & its Applications (CSPA), Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, 2014, pp. 271 – 275. [Online] Available: http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/xpls/abs\_all.jsp?arnumber=6805763

Notes:

- Use et al after the first author.
- Abbreviate the conference title by omitting ‘of the’ and ‘on’.
- If the year is given in the conference title it may be omitted from the end of the reference.
- If appropriate give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> First author’s initials and surname                                  | <input type="checkbox"/> City and Country of conference |
| <input type="checkbox"/> et al   | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of conference             |
| <input type="checkbox"/> “Title of paper”   | <input type="checkbox"/> Page range                     |
| <input type="checkbox"/> in Abbreviated Name of Conference (see list of abbreviations) | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online] (if needed)           |
|   | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)     |

2.4 Conference paper (unpublished)

Unpublished conference papers are presentations which have not yet been published in an official conference publication. Copies of this type of paper are usually available via institutional repositories.

You should provide the URL of the paper to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

1. Citation number

2. Author(s)' initials and surname(s)

4. in Abbreviated Name of Conference

3. "Title of paper"

[9] F. Georgiades, J. Warminski and M. Cartmell, "Nonlinear modal analysis of an L-shape beam structure," presented at the 4th Int. Conf. Localization, Energy Transfer and Nonlinear Normal Modes in Mechanics and Physics, Haifa, Israel, Jul. 1-5, 2012, session 6. [Online] Available: <http://eprints.lincoln.ac.uk/9690/>

8. [Online]

9. Available: URL

5. City and Country of conference

6. Date of conference

7. Session or presentation number

Notes:

- Include full details of when and where the conference took place.
- If there are more than six names listed, use et al. after the first author.
- Abbreviate the conference title by omitting 'of the' and 'on'.
- If appropriate give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author(s)' initials and surname(s)  | <input type="checkbox"/> Date of conference (abbreviated month, day, year) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> et al. (if needed)   | <input type="checkbox"/> Session or presentation number (if known)         |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Title of paper"  | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online]  |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Presented at the Abbreviated Name of Conference (see list of abbreviations) | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL                                    |
| <input type="checkbox"/> City and Country of conference  |  |

2.5 Keynote speeches, workshops and tutorials

You do not need to list keynote speeches, workshops, tutorials or other non-recoverable information in the reference list although you may still refer to these in the text itself:

“Participants taking part in a workshop on smart grid projects in Europe identified areas for improvement...” or

“In a keynote speech at a conference on Power Engineering, Energy and Electrical Drives, Professor Dincer stressed that there is a need to look beyond conventional power generating systems”.

You should seek permission from the speaker before referring to the speech in your academic work.

If there are publicly available papers or notes associated with the keynote speech or workshop then you should reference these as either a conference paper or website.

2.6 Poster sessions

If the poster has come from an online source you should provide the URL to the poster to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

[10] J. Gwizdka, “Electronic engineering notebook: A study in structuring design meeting notes”, poster presented at Conf. on Human Factors in Comp. Syst. (CHI), Los Angeles, CA, Apr. 18-23, 1998. [Online] Available: <http://www.sigchi.org/chi99/call/poster-example2.jpg>

Notes:

- Include full details of when and where the conference took place.
- Abbreviate the conference title by omitting ‘of the’ and ‘on’.
- If the year is given in the conference title it may be omitted from the end of the reference.
- If appropriate give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author(s)’ initials and surname(s)                         | <input type="checkbox"/> City and Country of conference                    |
| <input type="checkbox"/> et al (if needed)                                   | <input type="checkbox"/> Date of conference (abbreviated month, day, year) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> “Title of poster”  | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online] (if needed)                              |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Poster presented at  | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)                        |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Abbreviated Name of Conference (see list of abbreviations) |  |

Diagrams, figures, images, tables

If you reproduce any diagrams, figures, images and tables you should provide a caption acknowledging the source. The caption should include the title of the diagram, figure, image or table and the citation number for the source. You should also give the page number the item appears on and the figure or table number.

Your reference list should then include full citation details according to the type of source you are using.

For example, if you reproduced table 1-62 from page 121 in Handbook of Tables for Applied Engineering Science, edited by Bolz and Tuve, your caption would be:

Properties of high-temperature metals-SI units [11, p. 121, table 1-62]

Reference list example:

Dictionaries, encyclopaedias

4.1 Dictionary

Reference list example:

[12] A. G. Anthony and M. P. Escudier, A dictionary of mechanical engineering, Oxford, UK: Oxford University Press, 2013.

Notes:

- If the dictionary has no obvious author or editor then omit this element.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author(s)' initials and surname(s) (if known) | <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Title   | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher                                   |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Edition                                       | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication                         |

4.2 Encyclopaedia (whole)

Reference list example:

Personal communications and lecture notes

Personal communication may refer to face-to-face and online conversations, letters, interviews, emails and lecture notes.

You do not need to list any personal communication or non-recoverable information in the reference list but you should still refer to the correspondence in the text itself:

“in a personal interview in 2013, John Smith stressed his commitment to investing in renewable energy technologies” or
“in an email to the author, Dr. Jones highlighted the importance of referencing as a way of preventing accusations of plagiarism”

You should always seek permission from the correspondent before referring to any personal communications in your academic work.

2. Author(s)' initials and surname(s)

3. "Title of report"

[35] D. Corbus and M. Meadors, "Small wind research turbine,"
Nat. Renewable Energy Laboratory, Golden CO, NREL/TP-500-
38550, 2005.

7. Year of publication

4. Company

5. City and State (or Country) of company

6. Report number

Notes:

- List all authors in the order they appear.
- If the report has no obvious authors then omit this element.
- If appropriate give access details at the end.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

<input type="checkbox"/> Author(s)' initials and surname(s)	<input type="checkbox"/> Report number
<input type="checkbox"/> "Title of report"	<input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication

<input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of company	<input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)

12.6 Standards

Reference list example:

1. Citation number

2. Title of Standard

[36] Technical Product Documentation and Specification,
BS8888, 2013.

3. Standard number

4. Year of publication

Notes:

- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

<input type="checkbox"/> Title of Standard	<input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication
<input type="checkbox"/> Standard number

Software

13.1 App

Reference list example:

[37] WolframAlpha, Version 1.3.0.5087674 for Android, Champaign, IL : Wolfram Group, 2014. [App] Available: <https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.wolfram.android.alpha>

Notes:

- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Title of app                                | <input type="checkbox"/> Developer           |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Version                                     | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication |
| <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: | <input type="checkbox"/> [App]               |
|  | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL      |

13.2 Software

You do not need to reference commonly used engineering software such as MATLAB or AutoCAD.

Reference list example:

[38] iMindMap, Version 1.3, [Software], Cardiff, UK : ThinkBuzan, 2014.

Notes:

- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |

| <input type="checkbox"/> Title of software | <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of publication: |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Version           | <input type="checkbox"/> Publisher or developer                      |
| <input type="checkbox"/> [Software]        | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of publication                         |

14.1 MSc

If the thesis has come from an online source or database you should provide the URL of the thesis to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

[39] K. A. Whittingham, “Study of the dissolution of the superalloy CMSX-4 and extraction of metals using synthesised molecularly imprinted polymers,” M.S. thesis, Sch. of Life Sci., Uni. Lincoln, Lincoln, UK, 2013.

Notes:

- Abbreviate the name of the department and the name of the University.
- Separate each element by a comma.

Checklist:

<input type="checkbox"/> Author’s initials and surname	<input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of University
<input type="checkbox"/> “Title of thesis”	<input type="checkbox"/> Year of submission
<input type="checkbox"/> M.S. thesis	<input type="checkbox"/> [Online] (if needed)
<input type="checkbox"/> Department (if known)	<input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)
<input type="checkbox"/> University

14.2 PhD

If the thesis has come from an online source or database you should provide the URL of the thesis to help your readers locate the text.

Reference list example:

Notes:

- Abbreviate the name of the department and the name of the University.
- Separate each element by a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author's initials and surname | <input type="checkbox"/> City and State (or Country) of University |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Title of thesis"             | <input type="checkbox"/> Year of submission                        |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Ph.D. dissertation            | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online] (if needed)                      |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Department (if known)         | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL (if needed)                |
| <input type="checkbox"/> University                    |  |

15.1 Blog

Reference list example:

1. Citation number
2. Author's initials and surname
3. "Title of blog post"

[41] M. Smith, "Engineering Hub leading the way in plastics recycling," School of Engineering Blog, Dec. 20, 2013. [Online]
Available: <http://engineering.blogs.lincoln.ac.uk/2013/12/20/engineering-hub-leading-the-way-in-plastics-recycling/>

7. Available: URL
4. Title of Blog
5. Date of posting (abbreviated month, day, year)
6. [Online]

Notes:

- Include date of posting.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Author's initials and surname | <input type="checkbox"/> Date of posting (abbreviated month, day, year) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Title of blog post"          | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online]                                       |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Title of Blog                 | <input type="checkbox"/> Available: URL                                 |

15.2 Website with no author

Reference list example:

1. Citation number                      2. "Title of page/article"                      3. Title of Website

[42] "UK leads in cool technology-liquid air energy storage," Royal Academy of Engineering, Jul. 1, 2014, [Online] Available: <http://www.raeng.org.uk/news/releases/shownews.htm?NewsID=944>

4. Date of posting (abbreviated month, day, year)                      5. [Online]                      6. Available: URL

Notes:

- Include the day the page was last updated or checked.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> "Title of page"                                | <input type="checkbox"/> [Online]       |

| <input type="checkbox"/> Date of posting (abbreviated month, day, year) |   |

15.3 Website with personal author

Reference list example:

[43] D. Shukman, "Agreement reached on deep sea mining," BBC News Science & Environment, [Online], Apr. 25, 2014. Available: <http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/science-environment-27158883>

Notes:

- Include the day the page was last updated or checked.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

<input type="checkbox"/> Author's initials and surname(s)	<input type="checkbox"/> Date of posting (abbreviated month, day, year)
<input type="checkbox"/> "Title of page"	<input type="checkbox"/> [Online]

15.4 Online presentation

Reference list example:

[44] R. Jones, "Intelligent simulation technology delivery weight efficient vehicles," SlideShare, Jul. 22, 2011. [Online presentation] Available: http://www.slideshare.net/AltairProductDesign/simulation-technology-delivering-weight-efficient-vehicles-8661644?qid=41771a8c-4f05-417a-b709-891ddfdeb7e5&v=default&b=&from\_search=10

Notes:

- If there is no obvious author then give the associated username instead.
- Separate each element with a comma.

Checklist:

<input type="checkbox"/> Author's initials and surname (or username)	<input type="checkbox"/> Date of posting (abbreviated month, day, year)
<input type="checkbox"/> "Title of presentation"	<input type="checkbox"/> [Online presentation]
